ANNUAL REPORT 2017

"This AmeriCorps experience is only the beginning -wherever you go and whatever goals and dreams you achieve, there will always be inside of you the knowledge that you can touch a life and make a difference."

Volunteer West Virginia is an agency of the Office of the Secretary of Education and the Arts with Cabinet Secretary Gayle Manchin.

MESSAGE FROM VOLUNTEER WEST VIRGINIA

Ask any volunteer (or astronaut!) and they will tell you - it all starts with one small step.

When we set out to change the world, it can feel like a massive undertaking. However, Neil Armstrong hit the nail on the head during the first moon landing when he announced, "That's one small step for man, one giant leap for mankind."

Volunteering is as simple as that: One small step, preparing a meal for the hungry, weeding a community garden, or simply reading a book to a child. All of these small steps add up.

#AmeriCorpsWorks because it empowers future community leaders to take one small step. Playing an active role in West Virginia's future unearths the realization that we are all capable of much more than we ever imagined. From empowering a laid off coal miner to find a new career helping fellow Veterans, to becoming the Mayor of Beverly, all of this is possible because AmeriCorps helped someone take their first step.

We hope this annual report fills you with West Virginia goodness and inspires you to take your next step, here are some simple ways to get started:

WHAT YOU CAN DO

- IF YOU HAVE A MINUTE:

Spread a small act of kindness: Smile at a stranger, let a fellow driver merge into your lane, ask someone how they are doing - and really listen.

- IF YOU HAVE AN HOUR:

Visit www.volunteerwv.org to find a volunteer gig in your community.

- IF YOU HAVE A YEAR:

Pay-it-forward as an AmeriCorps member in West Virginia.

Sincerely,

#AMERICORPS WORKS FOR WEST VIRGINIA

At a time when so many people are leaving West Virginia, AmeriCorps gives them a reason to stay.

Each year more than 1,100 individuals serve as AmeriCorps volunteers in West Virginia. Many volunteers serve in their hometowns, while others come from across the country to make West Virginia their home for the year.

AmeriCorps programs do more than move West Virginia communities forward; they also serve the AmeriCorps members themselves. Of the members serving in West Virginia, 90% go on to pursue a degree or find a career opportunity as a direct result of their AmeriCorps service.*

In exchange for a year of service, volunteers receive a living-allowance, an Education Award for college or student loans, and work experience.

AmeriCorps works for the Mountain State by building strong leaders and vibrant communities. It helps create the future that West Virginia deserves.

AMERICORPS WORKS FOR VETERANS

The story of how Wayne McDonald, an Army Veteran and laid off coal miner, transformed his life - all thanks to AmeriCorps.

Wayne McDonald was determined to finish college and graduate before his son. Through his transformational experience in AmeriCorps, he made it happen. This spring Wayne walked across the stage to accept his diploma, right before his son did.

Wayne has worn many hats in his life, including his recent graduation cap! He's an Army Veteran, former coal miner, and LifeBridge AmeriCorps member.

After serving three years in the Army, he was honorably discharged and returned to his home in the southern coalfields. "My mind wasn't right, I knew I needed to come home," he said. Wayne found work as a strip miner, it wasn't his first choice, but he had a wife and small son to support.

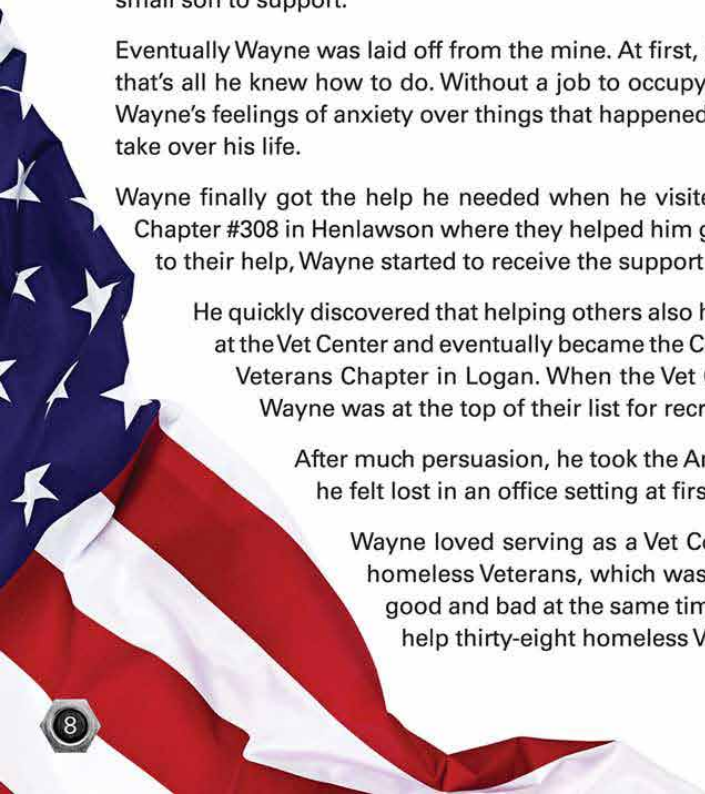

Eventually Wayne was laid off from the mine. At first, he felt lost. He was a coal miner and that's all he knew how to do. Without a job to occupy his time and provide for his family, Wayne's feelings of anxiety over things that happened during his military service began to take over his life.

Wayne finally got the help he needed when he visited the Vietnam Veterans of America Chapter #308 in Henlawson where they helped him get an appointment at the VA. Thanks to their help, Wayne started to receive the support he needed.

He quickly discovered that helping others also helped him, so he began to volunteer at the Vet Center and eventually became the Commander of the Disabled American Veterans Chapter in Logan. When the Vet Center became an AmeriCorps site, Wayne was at the top of their list for recruitment.

After much persuasion, he took the AmeriCorps position and even though he felt lost in an office setting at first, he didn't give up!

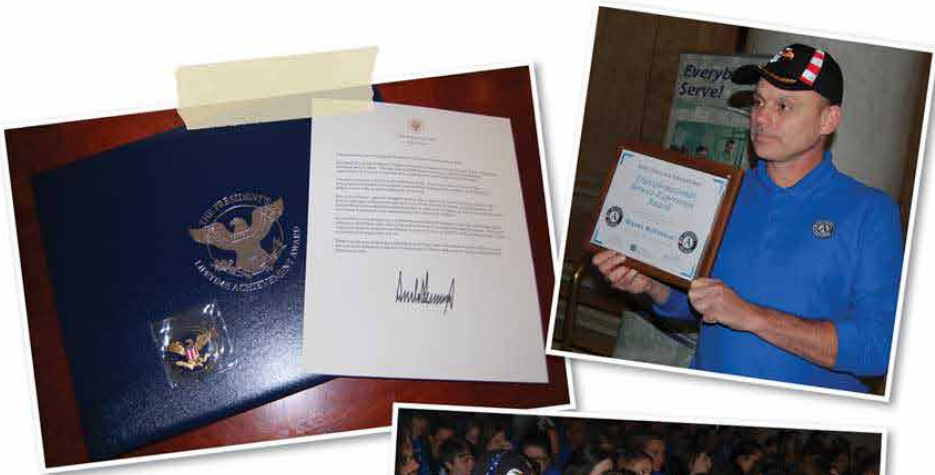

Wayne loved serving as a Vet Corps member, "I started out helping homeless Veterans, which was very hard because it made me feel good and bad at the same time," he said. "I had the opportunity to help thirty-eight homeless Veterans."

AmeriCorps programs like Vet Corps enable Veterans to continue their public service while helping their peers. "Veterans are some of the hardest people to help because pride keeps them from asking for help," said Wayne. "This is where I come in, it's easier to talk with another Veteran because of the immediate bond and trust"

Wayne's service in AmeriCorps has transformed his life. With an Associate's Degree in Social Work, Wayne is determined to continue helping fellow Veterans like himself.

"If anyone has the chance to become a Vet Corps member, please don't let it pass you up. You will learn so much and meet a lot of new people. Your service will change the way you think about yourself and others," said Wayne. "In my mind, the Vet Corps is a very important program because there are so many veterans in West Virginia that need help. . . I hope you can tell how I feel about Vet Corps and the things the program let me do for other Veterans. I am thankful for all things I have learned and the people who have helped me."

In recognition of his service Wayne received the President's Lifetime Achievement Award as well as the 2017 West Virginia AmeriCorps Transformational Service Experience Award.

WHAT OUR AMERICORPS MEMBERS ARE SAYING

"Energy Express really helped me find a solid footing for my career in education. There is nothing more valuable than getting to learn firsthand what your strengths and weaknesses are. I took the victories that came along, such as kids willingly wanting to write a paragraph . . . or seeing them challenge themselves with a book that they normally would not pick. When you see the excitement on the children's faces, it is all worthwhile."

-Greg Cochran, Wood County Energy Express

"AmeriCorps has helped me jump-start my career by way of thrusting me into a position where I HAVE to stretch beyond my comfort zone boundaries. I abhorred speaking in public, let alone in front of a camera, but now it's not so bad! I love the fact that something I do as a volunteer contributes in some way to the betterment of fellow West Virginians."

- Chris Moore Nielsen, West Virginia's Promise

"AmeriCorps is a great way to network with community professionals and organizations. I have strengthened my presence in my service community and have built trust among the community members; because of this I have had a few job opportunities that align with similar things I accomplished during my service. This year I have committed to serve an additional two years to continue my professional development and further enhance my commitment to High Rocks, the youth of West Virginia, and the Greenbrier Valley."

-Tristan Nutter, High Rocks

“My AmeriCorps experience has solidified my desire to establish my own nonprofit in the future. I want to make sure I am able to be a service to society.”

- Ariel Crawford, Veterans Community Outreach Team

“Through serving with Grow Ohio Valley, I know I need to pursue a career in outdoor education. It’s what excites me, and it encompasses all of my passions. My experience with AmeriCorps has been critical in helping me figure this out.”

- Justine Yglesias, Grow Ohio Valley

“My time as a VISTA showed my town I was a worker bee. Only months after my service ended, they elected me as their Mayor. Never saw that in my future before AmeriCorps.”

-Mayor Cindy Camp Karelis

DISASTER SERVICES - HOW WE HELP YEAR ROUND

WE:

- Support Community Emergency Response Teams (CERT) in training.
- Mobilize AmeriCorps members to respond to disasters through WV Disaster Corps and WV Strong.
- Promote disaster preparedness through Ready WV.
- Partner with response agencies to engage citizens in disaster response and recovery.

In 2017

CERT volunteers invested 5,265 hours in the community hosting preparedness events and service projects.

CERT volunteers responded to 7 disasters serving over 253 hours.

AmeriCorps and VISTA members assisted 2,123 disaster survivors.

PREPAREDNESS PUTS BECKLEY ON THE MAP

Beckley City Councilwoman Ann Worley is passionate about helping Beckley be the most prepared city in the state.

She jumped at the opportunity to join Beckley's Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) in 2014. Through the program, volunteers like Councilwoman Worley are trained in disaster preparedness, search and rescue, ropes, rappelling, and first aid.

Retirees, students, housewives, and businesspeople have banded together to join the Beckley Fire Department Community Emergency Response Team. "People who live in Beckley really care about their neighbors and want to make a difference," said Worley. CERT volunteers host preparedness events throughout the community and are trained to help during disasters and emergencies.

The program has grown to include a Teen CERT Program in every high school in Raleigh County. Councilwoman Worley plans to expand the program even further.

"One of my goals as a councilperson is to have a CERT team in every ward. Then if there was a disaster, like the derecho, Beckley's residents would be ready and able to help each other."

Councilwoman Worley hopes that programs like CERT put Beckley on the map for community preparedness. "As a state we are tired of being last," said Worley. "If Beckley can be on the cutting edge of something - let's do it!"

MISSION STATEMENT

Volunteer West Virginia, the state's Commission for National and Community Service, challenges West Virginians to strengthen their communities through service and volunteerism. We identify and mobilize resources, promote an ethic of service, and empower communities to solve problems and improve the quality of life for individuals and families.

NATIONAL SERVICE IN WEST VIRGINIA

National Service has a long history in West Virginia. From the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) of the 1930's, to VISTAS fighting poverty in the 1960's, to the creation of AmeriCorps in 1993. Each year more than 3,200 volunteers serve in National Service programs like AmeriCorps, VISTA, and Senior Corps in West Virginia.

West Virginia has taken full advantage of the opportunities AmeriCorps programs offer to communities and to those who serve as members. Volunteer West Virginia is proud that our state currently ranks third in the nation for producing AmeriCorps volunteers.
